Legal & Regulatory U.S. State Tax Plus

State tax law is highly complex and constantly changing. It's difficult to determine what regulations and guidance were in place at a particular point-in-time and keep on top of future changes. Now there is a new online point-in-time solution for legal tax professionals from Wolters Kluwer, State Tax Plus, that instantly provides versions of every state's tax law back to 1994.

Leveraging the extensive, industry-leading content of Wolters Kluwer's State Tax Reporters, State Tax Plus provides a centralized location for tax professionals to efficiently monitor and understand statutory and regulatory changes with point-in-time analysis, redlining of changes, and calendar features to help attorneys research more quickly and better advise clients.

Point-in-Time Analysis

State Tax Plus instantly presents changes in laws, guidance, and related cases in point-in-time, which enables faster, more accurate research. Explanations reduce the complexity of regulatory change so you can accurately assess the impact.

Redlining Comparison Tool

State Tax Plus clearly redlines law changes to show the differences between state tax laws, regulations, and commentary from one period to another, dating back to 1994.

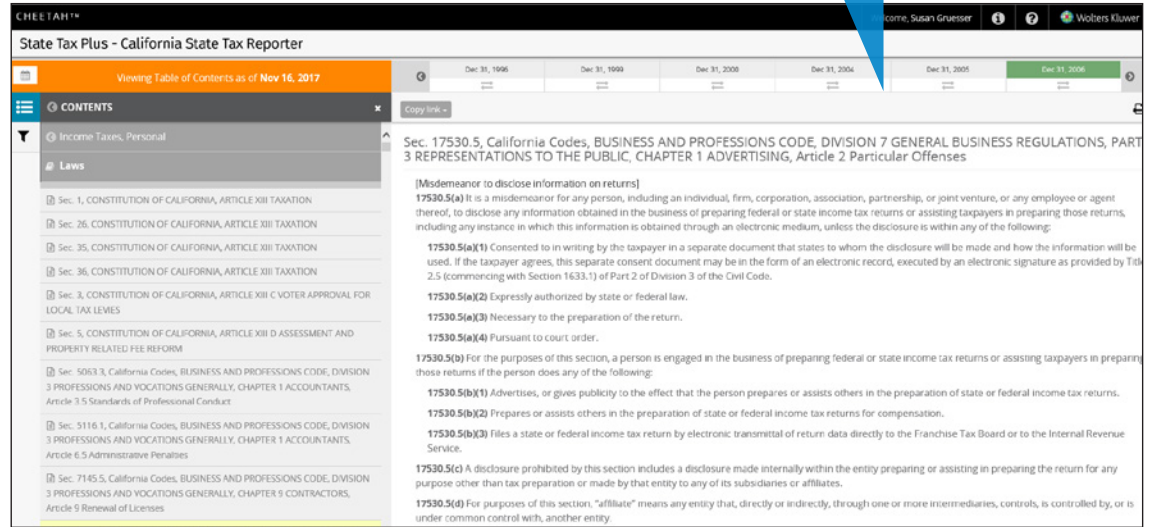

Calendar Features

State Tax Plus allows professionals to see a particular version of a state statute in place at a specific point-in-time as well as related material, including regulations and guidance, relevant to that specific point-in-time.

Point-In-Time Navigation: State tax law is increasingly complex and widely variable. The speed of change increases the risk on exactly when a change took place. State Tax Plus features exclusive Point-in-Time Navigation to help professionals find the right information in the right context so they avoid misinterpretation.

By selecting the year within the system, the tax professional can see the particular version in place at that point-in-time.

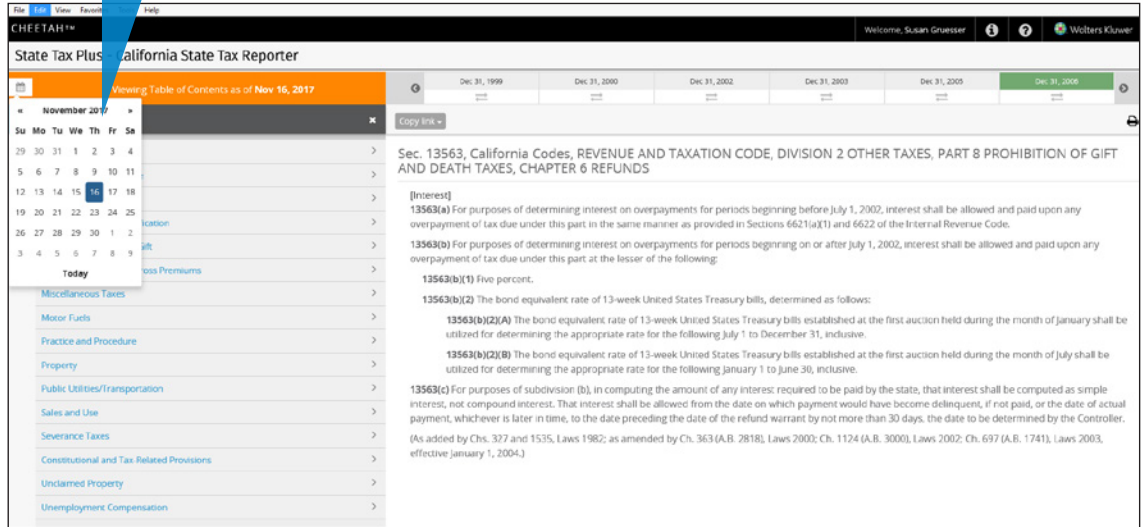

Redlining To Compare Versions of Regulations and Guidance: Due to the volume of changes, it is difficult to determine what regulations and guidance were in place at any point-in-time, and this makes comparing them to assess the changes challenging. State Tax Plus exclusively offers practitioners the ability to identify and compare versions of regulations and guidance by redlining the specific changes at a given date or over time.

Identify when changes occurred over time, redlining allows you to visualize the differences between any two points-in-time.

Calendar: State Tax Plus exclusively offers a calendar that allows professionals to navigate related material at a point-in-time with the assurance that they are viewing the exact material for the date under review.

Being able to select dates using a calendar allows you to see changes, and compare changes over time, or even across various document types, which further increases accuracy.

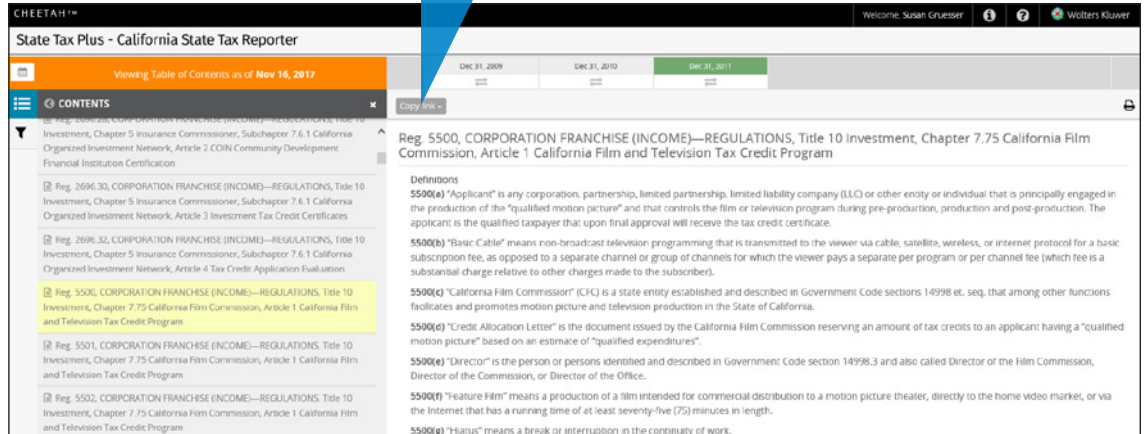

Filter Document Types: Professionals can apply filters for the related information and see the relevant cases at a specific point-in-time. This exclusive feature ensures professionals are not missing any important information to interpret a ruling relative to that time frame.

The user can now filter to research related case laws or explanations.

Copy Link Button: The ability to copy a link to the exact point-in-time enables a professional's quick audit trails and point-in-time reporting that supports collaboration, provides complete transparency, and enforces accountability.

Copy a link to the exact point-in-time content, and easily share with colleagues or build audit trails.
